WELCOME!

It's your final chance to vote in the Inside Soap Awards 2016, and we've got the EastEnders gang campaigning for your votes over on p42, with some amazing pics and sneak peeks of what's coming up.

But there's tough competition out there from the other soaps. We chat to Corrie's man of the moment – and Awards nominee – Simon Gregson about the uber-fertile Steve McDonald's double baby trouble on p32, while Emmerdale's Sexiest Female nominee Gemma Atkinson gives us the latest on Carly and Marlon's 'will-they-won't-they-or-even-should-they?' romance over on p36.

Talking of should-they romances, Neighbours' Olympia Valance tells all on Paige's forbidden love over on p40, and reveals she's already prepared for the Inside Soap Awards – she even has her frock sorted out! I'm a bit worried I might have left it too late to get mine now. I'd hate to panic buy and then regret it...

AUNT BABE LEFT FOR DEAD!

As she crosses the line once more, someone decides to make her pay...

EASTENDERS | BBC1 Monday

Aunt Babe's wicked deeds come back to bite her this week, after one of her enemies decides that revenge is a dish best served cold! As the cook closes up the Vic kitchen for the night, a mystery assailant emerges from the shadows and subjects her to a chilling attack...

"It doesn't even cross Babe's mind that this sort of thing could ever happen to her, or that she wouldn't see it coming," shares actress Annette Badland, who plays her. "It definitely takes her by surprise, despite there being lots of people with a motive for the assault!"

As it happens, though, Babe kicks off the week trying to win friends and not enemies when she continues to worm her way back in with her family. The Carters know all about the part that she played in orchestrating Abi's fake pregnancy, which led to the desperate girl's bunk-up with Lee behind Whitney's back!

Linda and Whitney are gobsmacked by what they find in the kitchen

“THIS IS A LOW POINT FOR BABE – SHE FEELS LIKE SHE HAS NOBODY”

As a consequence, Mick and Linda are absolutely disgusted with Babe's behaviour, but she's not about to give up on the family she's fought hard to feel part of for so long.

"Babe isn't sure where she stands with them, and is on very shaky ground at the moment," explains Annette. "She wants to remain at the Vic with the Carters, and is thrilled when she thinks they're letting her back in the pub properly. It doesn't quite work out that way to begin with, though, and this is a very low point for Babe. She feels like she has nobody."

As Mick begins to soften towards her, it's Linda who stands her ground and tells Babe that she has a long way to go before they're all digging into her famous trifle again. With those words, Babe is planning to leave when she has a bitter run-in with new nemesis Claudette – making Babe determined to squeeze every last penny out of Pam and Les...

"I don't really think Babe considers how the Cokers must be feeling – she has her own motives for blackmailing them," reckons Annette. "She doesn't have any respect for them, and is just using Pam and Les as much as she can to get what she wants."

CONTINUED OVER»

Linda rushes to Babe's aid – but is it too little, too late for the conniving cook?

» FROM PREVIOUS PAGE

"As for Claudette, it's thrilling having them go head to head," adds the star. "Babe is fearless – she will fight to the bitter end!"

It's not just the Cokers and Claudette who Babe is hacking off, as her twisted relationship with Abi becomes even worse.

"Babe truly regrets what has happened between her and Abi, as I think she genuinely wanted to help her," Annette tells us. "But if you cross Babe, she will get her revenge – and she doesn't think for a second that she can't win over Abi."

After another bust-up sees Abi fired, Babe is locking up for the night when her attacker strikes – leaving her out cold until Linda and Whitney stumble upon her unconscious body.

Is this really the end for Aunt Babe? And who is desperate enough to want to hurt her?

BELLE HOMER AS HER BABY LIE IS REVEALED!

Vulnerable and missing, is she in terrible danger?

ESS

Belle's life looks set to dangerously unravel – when she runs away from the village after her pregnancy lies are exposed.

Our sneak peek pics show the troubled and exhausted girl living rough on the streets, while back in the Dales, her family are frantically trying to find her. Belle has fled the village on the orders of her imaginary friend Ellie, and with her mental state so fragile thanks to Ellie's influence, she's more vulnerable than ever...

"Belle has totally lost herself," admits Eden Taylor-Draper, who plays Belle. "She's completely involved with Ellie and can't see anything else – she's been taken over by this girl. When Belle suffered psychosis before, it was dealt with quickly, but this time it's so intense – Belle doesn't know what to do or even who she is any more."

The horror begins this week, on the day of Belle's first baby scan. Dreading the moment she'll be forced to come clean about not being pregnant, Belle kicks herself for not agreeing to Charity's fake miscarriage plot.

The Dingles are frantic when they realise that Belle has gone missing

"With the scan coming up, she realises that the lie can't go any further – especially since Bailey is a doctor himself," says Eden. "It hits Belle hard, and she totally freaks out. But then Charity offers to lend her a scan of Noah from back in the day, so she can pretend it's hers."

Despite this questionable favour from Charity, Ellie insists Belle can still fake a miscarriage. On the very edge, Belle even goes as far as teetering at the top of a flight of steps as she prepares to jump. But she can't do it, and eventually decides to accept Charity's lifeline.

The teenager finds Bailey at the Woolpack and tells him that he's missed the scan as the appointment was brought forward. He's in the middle of arguing with his estranged wife Angie, but is overjoyed when Belle pulls out the photo.

"Bailey and the Dingles are over the moon," shares Eden. "But this just makes it worse for Belle. She goes to the toilets to calm down – only for Ellie to appear again."

While Belle is in the midst of a heated argument with Ellie, Angie walks in and is stunned to hear her talk of a fake pregnancy. Of course, she wastes no time in telling Bailey and Belle's clan in the pub – prompting Belle to make her desperate flight.

"Angie blurts it out in front of everyone," sighs Eden. "Belle panics, and Ellie is screaming in her ear. So Belle starts talking to her in front of everyone – and Belle's family suddenly realise what's going on now. The only thing left for Belle is to run off."

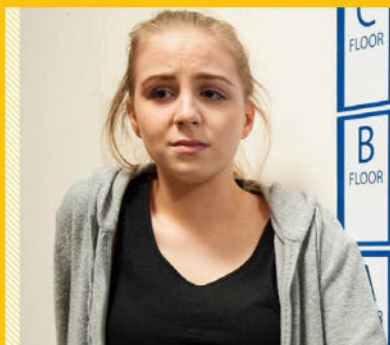

As the police are called and the Dingles form a search party, frightened Belle takes shelter in a lonely doorway. Can her clan find her before it's too late?

ALLISON JONES

Bailey on the Dales? Belle has to get away from her lies

Can Belle be saved?

Young actress Eden reckons that Belle's traumatic journey hasn't been easy to perform, but is nevertheless worthwhile.

"It's great that we're portraying psychosis like Belle's as not just a one-off thing," muses the star. "It's been a challenge, but speaking to people who've dealt with mental health issues, and also meeting with the mental health charity MIND, has given me some valuable insights."

"I've not been going to work and being 'happy Belle', so I do hope she gets help. She's been through a bad time, and needs to be with her loving family..."

AIDAN'S SECRET RUMBLING?

His night with Maria could have serious consequences...

Aidan endures the double date from hell this week, when he and his girlfriend Eva have dinner with Luke and Maria – the woman he drunkenly slept with!

But Aidan soon has bigger things to worry about after he spots Maria buying a pregnancy test in the corner shop. Could his tipsy mistake be set to cost him dear?

"Aidan totally freaks out," admits Shayne Ward, who plays the love cheat. "He sees Maria picking up the test and instantly thinks, 'Oh my God, this cannot be happening – she's pregnant!'. Aidan just doesn't want to settle down, and he's terrified of the fact that he cheated being revealed."

It's fair to say that Aidan is feeling more than a little guilty in the wake of his ill-advised bunk-up with Maria. He may have been angry with Eva at the time, but jumping into bed with another woman really wasn't the way to deal with it! So he makes clear to Maria that their night together was a mistake.

"Aidan doesn't know how to deal with the situation," shares Shayne. "He doesn't want to hurt anyone, so when he says it was a mistake, it's in the heat of the moment. Sometimes he comes out with stuff in the wrong tone, then wonders why he didn't say it more nicely!"

Despite Aidan's harsh words, Maria agrees to keep their secret. But their cover comes close to being blown when the pair have to sit through the most awkward meal of their lives, as they share a table at the Bistro with their oblivious other halves!

"There are no free tables, so Aidan and Eva are asked to join Maria and Luke," says Shayne.

“EVA'S NOT STUPID – SHE KNOWS THAT SOMETHING ISN'T RIGHT WITH AIDAN”

"It all gets very awkward, to the point where Aidan is waiting for Eva and Luke to go to the bar, so that he can ask Maria what she's playing at! It's obvious there's a lot of tension between them, and Eva's not stupid – she knows something isn't right."

However, things get even more tense around the table after Maria's house guest Caz stops by to ask Aidan if he's seen Liam's missing toy, since he popped round the previous night – which would be all well and good if he hadn't lied to Eva that he was with a mate!

"Caz really drops Aidan in it," sighs Shayne. "But they manage to cover their tracks because Maria makes up an excuse that You're dumped!

Aidan may be desperate to keep his dirty little secret, but it seems Maria has other ideas – as she ditches Luke!

Her night of passion with Aidan has obviously made her re-evaluate her relationship, prompting Maria to end things with her boyfriend. But does she hope to turn her recent one-night stand into a full-blown cobbles romance?

“Maria dumping Luke makes Aidan really nervous!” laughs Shayne. “As long as they were together, he could close the lid on what happened – but now they’ve split up, he doesn’t know what Maria will do next...”

Caz is now stirring up trouble without even realising it!

she was helping him look for flats for him and Eva. That causes its own problems – because Aidan doesn’t want to live with Eva!”

As frustrated Maria storms out and the dinner winds down, Aidan is left in a very tricky situation. And worse is yet to come when he spots Maria with the pregnancy test...

So, with Eva excited at the prospect of her and Aidan finally moving in together, and Maria with a potential bun in the oven, how will the factory boss talk his way out of this mess?

PAM & LES EXIT ALBERT SQUARE!

The Cokers are on their way out – but how will they go?

The end is nigh for undertaker Les and his wife Pam – following the news that the popular duo are to be written out of EastEnders.

A tabloid newspaper has claimed that the decision comes straight from the top, with executive producer Sean O'Connor making his first big call as the soap's new boss...

"We can confirm that Roger [Sloman, aka Les] and Lin [Blakley, who plays Pam] are leaving the show," says an Albert Square spokesperson. "They have been a pleasure to work with, and we wish them all the best for the future."

The news report goes on to suggest that the pair are to be given a big exit after Les' secret female alter ego, Christine, is finally revealed to everyone.

His secret has been on the verge of being exposed ever since wicked Aunt Babe learned about Christine, and proceeded to blackmail the funeral boss. And with ruthless Babe turning up the heat this week with even more demands for cash (see p4), the Cokers look set to be pushed to absolute breaking point...

"There is plenty of drama still to come before Pam and

IT WOULD BE LOVELY IF PAM AND LES HAD A HAPPY ENDING AFTER EVERYTHING"

Pam has been inconsolable since her beloved Paul died

Christine has thrown one hell of a spanner into the Cokers' works

Les leave Walford," whispers our insider. "They're still grieving for their grandson Paul, who recently lost his life in a vicious homophobic attack – and their life in the Square is always going to be a haunting reminder of that. But who knows if they'll leave on a high, with Les proudly revealing Christine – and Pam not giving a monkeys what people think? It would be lovely if they had a happy ending after everything that they've been through."

Show chiefs are keeping tight-lipped on how Pam and Les will make their exit, but the Coker couple are expected to remain on our screens until they leave later on in the year.

ANDY'S OFF, TOO

RONNIE'S STALKER CALLS IT QUITS...

In the aftermath of Ronnie discovering his true identity, Andy Flynn – or Gareth Jones as we've discovered he is called – is set to leave Walford any day now.

The builder, who is the adopted brother of Ronnie's daughter, has been secretly plotting against the Mitchell ice queen for months, but tense scenes are set to see him say a final farewell.

"Andy was created for a specific storyline, which has come to an end," confirms an EastEnders spokesperson.

Meanwhile, the many fans of handsome actor Jack

Derges – who plays Andy – will be pleased to learn that he's going from the Square to the stage, to star in the play The Boys In The Band. The production will be touring across the country from next month.

Walford favourites return!

We welcome back Square greats Kat, Alfie... and Pat?

SNEAK PREVIEW!

Here is your first look at the official promo shot of Walford gems Kat and Alfie Moon – taken for their upcoming Irish spin-off series, Redwater!

Stars Jessie Wallace and Shane Richie, who play the popular couple, have completed filming for the BBC1 drama, which is due to air next year.

As previously reported in Inside Soap, Kat and Alfie will head to Ireland in search of her long-lost son – but a horror story awaits them as her quest for the truth uncovers some very dark secrets that the village of Redwater would rather like left buried at sea...

Meanwhile, a true Walford legend is returning to our screens! Actress Pam St Clement, who is famous for her role in EastEnders as Pat Butcher, is to make a guest appearance in Casualty's 30th anniversary episode. She'll play a difficult patient,

Pam's character causes chaos for nurse Charlie

Sally Hodge, who will make life hell for Charlie Fairhead...

"Put it this way, if Sally were walking down the same street as Pat Butcher, Pat would neatly sidestep on to the opposite pavement," jokes Pam. "She's an unfortunate woman really because of her emotional baggage, and doesn't always come across as being very kind. She was a nice complicated character to play!"

Casualty's blockbuster birthday episode will air on Saturday 27 August.

Vanessa wants nothing more to do with her dad

EMMERDALE | ITV Tuesday

VANESSA & TRACY FAMILY BOMBSHELL

As their father Frank is rushed to hospital, the girls have no idea

There is a buried secret unearthed in the Dales this week – when it transpires that Tracy and Vanessa are half-sisters!

A confusing turn of events sees both villagers informed that their father is in hospital following a fight in prison. Neither girl is on good terms with her dad, so it's no wonder they are oblivious to the fact that they actually share a parent in recuperating Frank.

He has been serving time for assault, so it's with great reluctance that Vanessa and Tracy travel to his bedside – but with their visits coming at different times, even now the penny is yet to drop. How long will it be before the truth comes tumbling out – and will it prompt the ladies to call a truce on their continuing feud?

“Tracy and Vanessa are in for a major shock!” exclaims our Emmerdale insider. “They have absolutely no idea they’re related – and why would they? Although they both have a dad behind bars, they’ve had no reason to think he’s one and the same person. Tracy has had no contact with Frank for years, and Vanessa has also done her best to avoid him at all costs.”

While Tracy’s boyfriend David secretly visited Frank in prison – hoping to reunite father and daughter – Vanessa has been ignoring her dad’s efforts to get in touch. When Vanessa and Tracy each receive a call telling them Frank has been hurt, they both refuse to visit – but it’s not long before they crack...

“David is heading to hospital himself for his final chemo

session when Tracy gets the call,” reveals our spy. “Having met Frank, David encourages Tracy to go and see him. Meanwhile, Leyla and Rhona are trying to persuade Vanessa to do the same. Again, she appears stubborn, but it’s clear her mates have hit a nerve – so she’s the first to crumble.”

Frank is thrilled when he finally wakes up and finds Vanessa waiting by his side. Unfortunately, her visit is cut short when, as her dad tries to make up for lost time with his daughter, he starts chatting about a holiday Vanessa never went on. Even as he passes out again, outraged Vanessa requests that his doctors don't contact her in the future.

On her way out, she runs into David and Tracy – who has likewise been persuaded to give her father another chance.

"Even at this stage, there's no reason for either woman to be suspicious," shares our snoop. "As far as Vanessa is concerned, Tracy is at the hospital to support David through his chemo. And since the girls are barely talking thanks to Tracy's disastrous stint as Vanessa's housemate, they don't give things a second thought. So as Vanessa leaves, Tracy heads off to find Frank."

Tracy is upset to discover that Frank is in a coma – but

Tracy is conflicted about her feelings for her comatose father surprised when nurses inform her she's the second young lady to visit that day. She insists that while it's distressing to see Frank in a bad way, she's going to return and talk things through.

However, he's still out for the count when she goes back later, and Tracy can't resist rummaging about in Frank's cupboards. She's stunned to find a photo of him with a blonde little girl – so how on earth will Tracy feel when she realises she's had a sister all this time, and that they've been living under the same roof for months?

ALLISON JONES

LEANNE & LIZ COME FACE TO FACE!

And their meeting leads Leanne to a big decision – she's going to leave Weatherfield...

Leanne is in turmoil this week over her secret baby, but help is at hand from an unlikely source – Liz McDonald.

After a heart-to-heart with the unborn child's grandma, Leanne comes to a momentous decision – that her baby is now her number one priority, and she is going to move away from Weatherfield forever...

"Who can blame her for feeling that going away is the only solution?" asks our Street insider. "The situation is a total mess, and so many people are going to get hurt – Steve, Michelle, Nick. Leanne doesn't want her baby born into all of this, and she is sure there's no future for them in Weatherfield. Moving to Liverpool where her sister Toyah lives looks like the best option she's got – a clean start for everyone, as much as it will hurt Leanne to walk away from her home."

The decision is made all the more heartbreaking for Leanne because she's just realised she is falling back in love with her ex-hubby Nick. After she was forced to reject his advances last week, embarrassed Nick apologised to Leanne for hassling her and promised they would just be good friends from now on. But working alongside Nick in the Bistro, and watching him flirt with other women in his attempt to move on really hurts his ex – and when he tells the tale of a night out he ended up on recently, Leanne can hardly bear to listen.

She's already highly emotional when she pops round to the Rovers – but when Liz won't let her in because Amy has chicken pox, Leanne suddenly clicks that Steve's mum knows the truth about the baby. The two women end up having a meaningful chat, and Leanne tells Liz that she's in terrible pain about rejecting the man she loves simply because she's expecting Steve's baby.

Liz is saddened when Leanne announces her plan to leave,

Never mind Simon – how will Nick react to Leanne leaving?

but the mum-to-be is adamant. Her only hurdle now is telling young Simon they're moving away...

"Of course, Simon's not going to be happy at all," sighs our informant. "His family and friends are all in Weatherfield. Leanne begs him to understand, but it's a lot for a boy of his age to take in. Then there's also the problem of telling Nick that she's leaving – when it comes to the crunch will Leanne really be able to leave behind the man she loves?"

McQueen double wedding shock!

As Mercy prepares to marry Joe, is Celine getting hitched too?

SNEAK PREVIEW!

Church bells could be ringing for not one, but two McQueens if these snaps are anything to go by!

The Hollyoaks team have been spotted filming what looks like bride Mercedes preparing to get hitched to Joe. But rather curiously, her cousin Celine is wearing a similar long white gown and is also about to tie the knot! Who could she be marrying?

"Celine's had a dalliance with Liam Donovan, but interestingly it's his brother Jesse who she's sharing a tender moment with in these pictures," says our Chester source. "He's not dressed for the occasion, though – so could he be there to prevent her from exchanging vows with someone else?"

Meanwhile, Mercedes looks set to finally have her happy ending as her brother, John Paul, drives her to the church in a spruced-up old caravan. But with Joanne determined to drive a wedge between Mercy and Joe so that she can have the hunk all to herself, will the big day go off without a hitch?

"Well, this is a McQueen wedding, so there's bound to be drama of some sort," snorts our snitch. "And Mercedes doesn't have the best record when it comes to saying 'I do'. She'll be hoping her marriage to Joe will be a case of fourth time lucky – but she's possibly the most cursed bride in Hollyoaks history!"

The wedding episode is expected to air later this year.

ANDY QUILTS AFTER 20 YEAR

Andy could spend a long time locked up for Lachy's crime

Speculation is rife over star Kelvin Fletcher's future in the Dales...

SNEAK PREVIEW!

The soap rumour mill has gone into overdrive following reports that Kelvin Fletcher, who plays Emmerdale heart-throb Andy Sugden, is quitting the village after some 20 years on the show.

Word on the street is that Kelvin – who's played Andy since he was 12 years old – is leaving the Dales to pursue his dreams of becoming a pro rally driver!

But while Emmerdale bosses have declined to comment on

Andy's fate could be sealed by his scheming girlfriend Chrissie

"I think I have always been able to visualise a time without Emmerdale," admitted Kelvin in a recent interview. "When you play a character for 20 years, regardless of the storylines they throw at you, there comes a time when you want to try something else. My drive and hunger for acting has never subsided, but hopefully I've got a few strings to my bow."

With Andy's vengeful other half Chrissie having framed him for her father Lawrence's shooting, Andy faces prison for a crime he didn't commit. Show chiefs are keen to keep the farmer's fate a secret until it airs on screen, but the odds don't look good for him. Will it be Chrissie's scheming that sees Andy bow out of the Dales?

"I've got an amazing summer coming up," enthuses Kelvin. "Chrissie wants her revenge and, first and foremost, I think Andy is the person who pays..."

Viewers can find out what's ahead for Andy as the plot plays out over the coming weeks.

“I HAVE ALWAYS BEEN ABLE TO VISUALISE A TIME WITHOUT EMMERDALE”

The star's tweet is cryptic, to say the least, as it doesn't completely quash the rumours about him leaving. What we do know, however, is that Kelvin is due to become a father this month, as he and wife Liz Marsland prepare to welcome their first child. So, perhaps the timing is right for Andy to hang up his farming boots for a while...

the story – so as not to ruin the outcome of Andy's upcoming court trial – the actor himself has broken his silence with regards to his rumoured career move, hinting that the recent gossip might not necessarily be accurate...

"Leaving Emmerdale to become a rally driver? First I've heard of it!" tweeted Kelvin. "Although I do know one thing, there are some BIG surprises coming in #Emmerdale!"

Will Kelvin's love of rally driving see him ditch the Dales?

Kelvin has an arrival to look forward to before any departure

Meet Courtney!

Actress Alice Nokes talks about her character's shock return to Walford...

SNEAK PREVIEW!

Grant Mitchell's big EastEnders comeback also saw the return of his daughter, Courtney. We caught up with newcomer Alice Nokes to talk about joining the iconic family...

How did you react when you won the role?

I was so excited! I was at home with my mum having a cup of coffee when I heard from my agent, and I just froze. We'd been waiting for a call for a while, so we were over the moon and couldn't stop smiling.

And then you had to keep Courtney's return a secret!

I told close family and friends, but I kept it very low-key and enjoyed waiting for everyone else to find out. I'm relieved it's out there now, and I can't wait to see the response.

What is Courtney and Grant's relationship like?

She adores her dad, but I think she wants to hate him and teach him a lesson at the same time. She feels like the adult in the relationship, and that's not the greatest thing for a teenage girl. Because her mother died, Courtney felt like she had to up her game and become the responsible party.

What's she been up to lately?

Courtney is at university in her first year. She's very intelligent and savvy – she left Portugal and has made a life for herself.

What's in store for her now?

Drama follows Courtney wherever she goes! There are some juicy storylines coming up. I'm in the show for a few episodes, and we'll have to see about the future. I had such a fun time filming there.

What's it been like working with the EastEnders cast?

I had a lot of scenes with Ross Kemp [Grant] to begin with, and he really helped me feel comfortable on set. It's quite an overwhelming thing to be thrown into. Ross has taught me so much about acting. And I get on really well with Tilly [Keeper], Jamie [Borthwick] and Harry [Reid] – the Mitchell clan. The whole cast were so lovely and welcoming, though!

UNITED FOR JUSTICE!

The women of Walford come together for Dean's trial verdict...

It's a tense week for the Mitchells and the Carters, as Dean goes on trial for the attempted rape of his ex Roxy.

He evaded justice following his brutal rape of sister-in-law Linda, but Dean has spent the past few months on remand following his attack on Roxy. For her and Linda, the court case is a chance to see Dean punished, but it's also a painful reminder of what they've been through. It's heartbreaking for his mum Shirley, too – as she must testify against her son and deal with her own guilt...

"No parent wants to see their child in the dock, though Shirley knows that Dean needs to be stopped," shares our Square insider. "It was difficult for her to believe the accusations against Dean, but Shirley knows Linda and Roxy are telling the truth. The fact that her son did this is devastating, and the only option that Shirley is left with is to try to do the right thing."

While Shirley braces herself to give evidence, Roxy is in a world of pain. She knows that Dean's defence team will try to discredit her at every turn, and that seeing him again will be a terrible ordeal. But when she discovers Ronnie has written to Dean and asked him to admit what he did, she's not happy with her sister for once again trying to control her life.

Of course, there's no way wicked Dean will consider taking responsibility for his actions, and Ronnie is hurt when Roxy makes it clear that she wants to deal with the court appearance alone.

The next day, it's Shirley's turn to take the stand, and she bravely stands up against Dean in the court. She knows it's the right thing to do, but Shirley feels disgusted with herself that she let things go so far – and that she wasn't a better mum to Dean in the past. And it's Denise, not her other half Buster, to whom Shirley turns as her emotions overwhelm her.

Having gone through the trial process, Shirley, Roxy, Linda and Ronnie end up together at the Vic as they wait to hear the verdict from the court.

"It's an emotional time, and all of them have been deeply scarred by what Dean did," says our snitch. "To sit and talk frankly helps the girls. But when Ronnie insists the only person to blame in all this is Dean, it's hard for Shirley to accept it."

As the day comes to a close, the verdict arrives. Will Dean be found guilty of his evil crimes?

KATHY SHARES HER DARKEST SECRET

She confides in Buster the story of her rape ordeal...

Kathy and Buster have an emotional heart-to-heart

Kathy opens up to Buster about her traumatic past this week – as Shirley continues to push him away.

Although she's decided to end their affair, Kathy is there for Buster when Dean's trial gets under way, as he tries to cope with the emotional minefield of his son's actions. Buster is hurt that Shirley doesn't want to share their collective sadness and guilt about Dean's behaviour and what he did to Linda and Roxy. However, Kathy sees that he's struggling and invites him over for dinner at the Beales', where Jane quickly realises the pair are more than just friends.

But while Kathy and Buster have been lovers, their bond is deeper than just physical attraction, and it helps enormously as they talk about the situation with Dean. For Kathy, it's a horrid reminder of her own rape ordeal at the hands of evil James Willmott-Brown 30 years ago. Buster is horrified as Kathy explains what the slimy bar owner did to her, and how hard the rape trial was for her to cope with. It provides Buster with an insight into what Dean's victims are experiencing, but also a window into the pain and blame that Shirley must be going through herself right now.

Taking the lead, Buster goes to the courtroom to see the verdict delivered by the jury – while Shirley remains in the Square. Will Kathy's brave decision to open up about what happened to her help heal the rift between Buster and Shirley?

CHARITY'S KIDNAP SCAM!

She tries her latest ploy to win back Cain...

Scheming Charity is up to her old tricks again this week, as she tries to lure her ex Cain into one of her scams.

However, when Cain turns down the offer, Charity goes solo – before pretending she's being held hostage and needs Cain's help! How will Cain react after he rushes to her side and realises he's been duped?

"Charity wants Cain back, make no mistake!" reveals our Dales insider. "She knows he's in a vulnerable position right now, and she intends to take full advantage. Charity thinks that if she can just lure Cain into one of her cons, then the thrill of their illegal dealings will make him fall into bed with her again."

In fact, as the week kicks off, Cain's not the least bit interested in anything Charity has to say, since he's too busy trying to claw back his marriage! When Moira threatens him with a divorce, Cain is devastated – and after he finds her looking cosy with her ex, James, he's convinced that his wife has already moved on. Little does he realise that Moira is actually confessing to James that she's still in love with Cain, and is scared she'll take him back if she doesn't officially end their marriage.

With nothing left to lose, Cain decides to take Charity up on her offer – but when Chas gets wind of it, she goes straight to Moira and begs her to help.

After Moira later urges Cain not to throw everything away by doing something illegal with Charity, Cain takes her words as a sign that she may still love him. This, coupled with the news that unstable Belle has gone missing (see p8 for more on that story), motivates Cain to pull out of the job with Charity – but little does he realise that she's already at the planned location, lining up her target...

"When Charity's wig comes out, you know she's in full scamming mode!" chuckles our snoop. "After flirting up a storm with a rich guy called Jared, she invites him up to her room – then phones Cain and lies that this guy is holding her against her will. Of course, heroic Cain drops everything and races off to Charity's side."

Cain bursts in all guns blazing, leaving poor Jared cowering in fear on the floor! But how will Cain react when he realises the guy is no threat at all, and that he's been played like a cheap fiddle by sneaky Charity?

GARY'S SAD CONFESSION

He tries to let Izzy down gently...

Gary struggles to hide his true feelings from Izzy this week – and soon leaves his ex crushed after he admits that he doesn't want a relationship with her.

Guilty Gary made a huge blunder when he gave Izzy a comforting kiss before she went to prison, leading her to believe that the pair of them were sure to get back together once she was released. And although he confessed to Anna that Izzy had misread his intentions, he couldn't bring himself to tell her the truth once he saw her joy at being home again.

This week, however, Izzy begins to notice all is not as it seems. While Gary does a good job of playing the family man at home, she's gutted when Sean asks him the key to a successful relationship – and Gary struggles to answer!

Determined to put the spark back in their apparently rekindled relationship, Izzy suggests the two of them go on holiday. That looks promising at first, and Gary is on board with the idea, but Izzy soon realises that he's got his wires crossed once he presents his ideas for a holiday for the whole family. When disappointed Izzy explains that she meant a romantic break for just them, it's the last straw for Gary, who finally admits that he doesn't want a physical relationship.

Although poor Izzy is understandably crushed, Gary

All thoughts of romance fly out the window as the two of them end up in a bitter stand-off over the pig's future, with Lisa determined to prevent her new pal being taken to the abattoir. But amid all the bickering, nobody notices when crafty Zack takes action and sets the hog free...

THE BIG INTERVIEW

CORONATION STREET | ITV Friday

Two babies on the way, two women to keep happy and a massive secret that could explode at any time – Simon Gregson is predicting a rocky future for Steve...

Steve thinks he can handle this, but it's going to explode!

Watching Steve McDonald trying to sort out another mess that he's got himself into is one of the most entertaining things on television. So while we're publicly shaking our heads at Steve hiding Leanne's pregnancy from wife Michelle, we're privately delighted – because it wouldn't be half as much fun to watch if he fessed up straight away!

This week, the situation gets more complicated as Steve discovers Michelle is expecting a baby by him, too! But don't worry, as actor Simon Gregson reveals that the new twist has only left Steve more determined than ever not to come clean...

"In Steve's mind, if he doesn't say anything, then everything will be fine," laughs the star, who has played soapland's most fertile fella since 1990. "That's how he thinks of the world. It's like a dog who believes that if they don't look at someone, they won't be seen! For the moment, Steve is under the illusion that he will be able to handle it – but I'm sure when the time comes, things are going to explode."

Right now, Steve knows that Leanne Battersby is walking around with his baby growing inside her, and wife Michelle is begging him to get her pregnant, too. Steve may not be the sharpest tool in the shed sometimes, but even he knows that he can't go round knocking everyone up – so prepares to tell Michelle that he doesn't want them to have a baby together right now. The trouble is, she's already expecting!

"Steve feels like an idiot because he's the one who always wanted another baby and refused to have a vasectomy when

'Chelle of a secret: Steve's wife has no idea that he slept with her friend and neighbour!

"THE IMPORTANT THING TO STEVE IS: HE HAS TO KEEP MICHELLE"

Michelle asked him to," explains Simon. "He thinks it would be mad to have a baby – so he tells Michelle and she's devastated. Then to make matters worse, she tells him she's already pregnant, and Steve just feels terrible. He's really worried about how this is going to affect his marriage."

Say what you like about Steve, but he is devoted to his wife. The bunk-up with Leanne was a drunken mistake when he thought he'd lost Michelle forever. Now, with a baby bombshell that could blow their world to smithereens, Steve has got plenty to fear regarding how long his marriage is going to last if it all comes out.

"Steve and Michelle are very much like Ross and Rachel from Friends – the audience wants them to be together, but he always manages to mess it up!" chuckles Simon. "Seriously, he doesn't want anything to do with Leanne's child because the most important thing to him is that he has to keep Michelle. She stuck by him through his fight with depression, and it was their love that brought him out of where he was and got him better. After everything that happened with Becky, he just feels like he can't do this to his wife, and he can't let her down. Steve knows she'll go if he tells her."

We wouldn't be surprised if what happens next is Steve rushing around Weatherfield trying desperately to put out fires and keep the sordid truth under wraps! So, are we pretty much right?

"Yes, I'm going to have to go back to the gym and get in training!" says Simon. "Steve in trouble always seems to involve him running around like that. Even though it's quite a dramatic thing, there's a lot of scope for comedy with this story as well – which is really good. You know there is going to be a big eruption at some point."

That's for certain, and we wouldn't like to be in Steve's shoes when this twisted situation blows up in his face! But does Simon have any words of wisdom to offer his hapless alter ego?

"Steve should leave the country and start again somewhere else!" jokes the actor. "He's going to be a lucky man if he walks away from this one unscathed."

"I hope this isn't the end for him and Michelle – because Kym [Marsh, who plays her] and I will be sad," adds Simon. "We have a laugh, and that's the best thing to have at work. But getting Leanne pregnant might be a step too far for Michelle."

Whatever happens, we know that at some point next year, Steve McDonald is likely to have two newborn babies and two cross women. It's going to be bedlam!

"I've already got three kids at home, and now I'm going to have two babies at work, too," exclaims 41-year-old Simon, who has a trio of sons. "It depends on what the babies are like because some are okay and really chilled, whereas others aren't because the boom microphones we use in the studio look like dinosaurs to them! My baby son is calm, so maybe I should bring him in – like I have done with my dog, who plays Steve's dog Rover."

Simon has lots to prepare for as Steve's life goes bananas, and he's bracing himself for fiery scenes with his co-star Kym.

"Kym has got this look, which is actually terrifying," shares Simon. "Steve is petrified of Michelle finding out, and so am I. I think he's going to wish he had the snip when he had the chance!"

"MICHELLE MAY PERFORM A VASECTOMY ON STEVE – WITH TWO HOUSE BRICKS!"

CORRIE STAR KYM MARSH is delighted with the latest drama to befall the McDonalds – although she is surprised by one aspect...

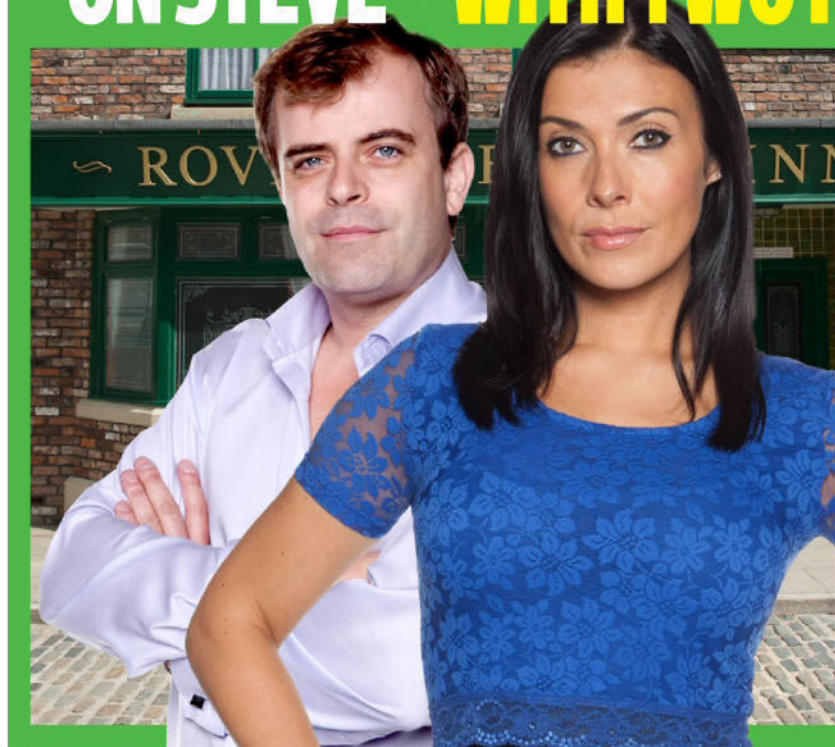

"With Steve being so fertile, I'm not sure how Michelle hasn't got pregnant before now," grins the actress. "Steve only has to throw his undies on the bed, and that's it, everyone's pregnant! I have no idea why, but Michelle does love Steve and thinks that this baby will be the making of their relationship. She's 40 – it's her last chance." And Michelle's baby news means Kym is going to be walking around with a bump soon...

"I've never had to wear one before, so it'll be quite bizarre," she reveals. "I've been told they are quite comfortable."

We're already worried for Steve's safety when Michelle finds out about Leanne, as Kym thinks it'll be ugly.

"Michelle may perform a vasectomy on Steve – with two house bricks!" she laughs. "She's not the most forgiving person. Steve should be very afraid!"

“Carly is confused by everything – it’s one big mess!”

Will true love triumph in the Dales? Gemma Atkinson is keeping her fingers crossed...

EMMERDALE | ITV Friday

Carly and Marlon have turned a potential romance into a right old muddle. Following their recent kiss, Carly thinks Marlon isn’t interested, Marlon thinks it’s Carly who isn’t interested – and now Carly’s pretending to be interested in Pete to make herself feel better! Actress Gemma Atkinson sums it up for us as she sits down to chat about her alter ego’s convoluted love life...

“It’s all one big mess, isn’t it?” laughs the star. “I think Carly is really confused by everything that’s happened. She likes Marlon, but she’s scared of being knocked back by him because she thinks he’s not that keen. Carly is also frightened their friendship might be ruined.”

That seems sillier still because their friendship is already in tatters since they’re too embarrassed to look each other in the eye. So Carly decides to put some space between them by resigning as April’s babysitter – not the best move when you have in the equation a young child with abandonment issues.

“April wants to know what she’s done wrong,” sighs Gemma. “Of course, it’s nothing to do with her, just the fact Carly can’t be around Marlon because she’s got such strong feelings for him. She thinks it’s best for them all that she’s not around any more, but Marlon is terribly disappointed that it’s come to this.”

If Marlon feels miffed now, just wait till he finds out that Carly has found another way to treat her nasty dose of heartbreak! Her solution? A flirt-a-thon with sexy Pete – which ends in them agreeing to go on a date.

“Don’t forget, Carly thinks Marlon has given her the knockback – which he hasn’t,” shares Gemma. “When you’re heartbroken, you do anything to distract yourself. So Carly uses Pete to distract her from Marlon. She wants to prove to herself that there are other guys who still find her attractive, and that she can get over Marlon.”

That doesn’t sound like a winning strategy, and it’s certainly not one that

“MARLON PULLS HIS GROIN – CARLY LITERALLY HAS TO CARRY HIM HOME!”

Gemma would employ! She recently revealed she’s single again after her romance with personal trainer Olly Foster came to an end, but is not out looking for love again.

“I haven’t even thought about dating,” she insists. “I’ll give it a few months. I’m one of those people who likes their own company – I don’t need someone.”

Despite having put an end to their relationship, Gemma and Olly remain good pals, and he is still her personal trainer.

“We’ll always be in each other’s lives, but just as friends,” the star tells us. “We went on a road trip together the other week – and now I can’t get away with ditching sessions because he’s more strict with me! I’m happy being single. I’ve got my dogs, and it’s nice to be on my own for a bit.”

So long, Marlon?: Will Carly and her potential beau ever get it together?

However, Gemma doesn’t want Carly to be single – she’s rooting for a relationship with Marlon. And there is a breakthrough when her character ditches a date with Pete to help Marlon look for missing Belle.

“As they’re searching, Marlon falls over and pulls his groin, and can’t walk,” grins Gemma. “Carly has to literally carry him home! It breaks the ice and gets them laughing again. The moment helps them to rekindle their friendship – but I want them to get together. I love that Marlon is different from every other guy Carly has been with. He will be able to take care of Carly in ways she’s never experienced. I think they make a nice, genuine couple.”

If we do finally see them get together this week, it will mean more on-screen kissing for Gemma and cast mate Mark Charnock. So the glamorous actress will have to be more attentive to the meals she devours before romantic scenes...

“Before we filmed our first kiss, I had this chilli chicken burger, but Mark was just eating crisps,” chuckles Gemma. “I told him that he’d be starving later on and asked why he wasn’t eating a proper meal. He said, ‘Because I’m going to be kissing you this afternoon!’ All I could do was say sorry and offer him some of my food!”

April showers: Carly tries to make her sad charge feel better

THREE'S A CROWD?

MARLON'S TRUE LOVE IS COMING HOME...

Marlon may be on the brink of a new romance, but there will always be three people in his budding relationship – the other one being his pal Paddy.

The lovelorn vet is soon set to return to discover his estranged wife Rhona shackled up with Pierce – the husband of his late mistress Tess – and it will fall to Marlon to support him. How will Carly cope with it?

“Paddy means well, but he’ll always be in the way,” sniffs Gemma. “Every time Carly and Marlon talk about something or might be about to share a moment, he walks in!

It’s not his fault, but he’s always there.”

However, Gemma promises that fiery Carly will keep her cool this time.

“She realises how much Paddy needs Marlon,” she reveals. “But it means Carly has to step back.

In the past, she would have kicked off – but since it’s Marlon, she accepts it.”

As the Osbornes square up to Warren, actress Jessica Fox reckons they're more than a match for him...

Nancy and Darren could be heading down a very dark

Long Armstrong of the law: Nancy and Darren are surprised by the fuzz

Nancy and Darren are the very last people in Hollyoaks we would have expected to go to the dark side. Sure, they've been through their fair share of drama during their time in the village, but they've always come out the other end laughing – and we never dreamed we'd see them involved in a murder cover-up!

Yet just recently they've been forced to bury Patrick Blake's body in the woods – and now they're planning to take out gangster Warren Fox! It's no wonder we needed a sit-down with star Jessica Fox, who plays one half of the dastardly duo, to find out what on earth the Osbornes are playing at...

"Darren and Nancy are quite ordinary characters, so when you put them in these extreme circumstances, it's actually very entertaining," enthuses the actress, who first appeared on screen as Nancy in 2005. "So when I found out about this storyline, I thought it was hilarious! The characters have so much backstory to play with and such great chemistry – which is why when they're dragging a body through the woods, they can be discussing where they should go on holiday afterwards!"

It was one thing to see them accidentally get pulled into the sorry saga of Patrick's murder, but it's another entirely to witness Nancy and Darren actively plotting to get Warren out of the village. And Jess tells us that what they're planning is extreme.

"Darren gets hold of a gun from Grace – which Nancy thinks is a step too far," she says. "They may bury dead bodies in the woods, but they don't shoot people!

"NANCY ISN'T FRIGHTENED OF WARREN – SHE IS INVINCIBLE!"

"Warren coming back has opened up a whole can of worms for them, especially after Maxine went and blabbed to him about Patrick's death. Nancy thinks she's invincible – she's not frightened of Warren at all! She thinks she can take him."

Given that Warren has just completed a stretch behind bars for murder, we reckon the Osbornes may have bitten off more than they can chew this time. And they're in grave danger of being rumbled when

Jessica's FAMOUS

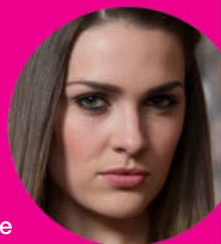

The star dishes the dirt on her Hollyoaks pals...

"Working with Ashley Taylor Dawson [aka Darren] every day is an absolute joy. He brings so much to every scene – he just wants to make it the best it can be. He's always enthusiastic, and hopefully that rubs off on me."

"Anna Passey [who plays Sienna] really makes me laugh. She set me off today and I giggled for 15 minutes – and I'm not even sure what it was about. We're good friends outside of work, though people are surprised that we like each other in real life!"

"I'd love to work more with Kieron Richardson [who plays Ste]. He started on the show a couple of months after me, but our characters have never really crossed paths. He's fantastic – another one who puts so much effort into it."

"Patrick was such a fantastic character, and Jeremy Sheffield was brilliant at playing him. He was a baddy that you loved to hate, and that's very hard to pull off. I think they should bring back Jeremy as Patrick's twin or something!"

"Jess Ellis [Tegan] throws the best parties at Hollyoaks! She's very good at organising things, but she does it in a way that's so relaxed that nobody really knows it's happening. Everyone just has a really lovely time."

Murder most scowl: How long can the Osbornes get away with their scheme?

DS Armstrong sneaks up on them while Darren is showing Nancy the firearm!

"Darren has just told Nancy he's got a gun, and she's telling him they have to get rid of it," explains Jess. "So when DS Armstrong appears, they're thrown into a bit of a panic. They mutter something about Nancy having to go to Pilates, then leave – but they're not terribly subtle about it, given how nervous they are."

"Nancy is freaked out about the whole situation – plus she's sitting on a gun!" continues the actress. "She reverses the car at high speed, but as she tries to turn it around, something weird happens to her body and she just can't seem to brake – which causes her to hit someone."

The identity of the Osbornes' latest victim is a mystery at this stage, but they could well have another body on their hands. Somehow we can't picture them becoming the village's next serial killers – though Jess reckons we shouldn't rule it out...

"I think there's always the potential for that," she teases. "But I think whatever they do, if they go down a darker path, they will definitely be giggling about it – and they'll always have a very strong justification for how they're acting."

"I think they'll go as far as they need to in order to defend themselves. Especially Nancy – she's a bit more ruthless, because she wants to protect her kids at all costs. She's also got a real beef with Sienna that's never been properly dealt with. So if the opportunity arises to throw Sienna under a bus, Nancy's not going to miss it!"

SARAH ELLIS

“Paige is behaving like a real hussy right now!”

Her character's in love with a priest – but Neighbours star Olympia Valance reveals that Paige is dealing with it in a very ungodly manner...

We're used to the hunky men of Ramsay Street walking around topless, so the fact that Father Jack spends his time trussed up in his shirt and dog collar is taking some getting used to! But while it's difficult for us to adjust to, it's even harder for Paige to get her head around the person she's in love with being a man of God.

Since Jack made his decision to return to the priesthood, Paige has been distracting herself with some steamy sessions with Tyler – upsetting not only Jack, but Tyler's ex-girlfriend Piper, too! Paige's naughty behaviour has left viewers outraged, and as we sit down for a chat with actress Olympia Valance – who plays her – she agrees that her alter ego is bang out of order...

“Paige is being a little hussy right now!” giggles the star, as she joins us on the phone from her home in Melbourne.

“I think she's being selfish. She's just been hooking up with Tyler as a distraction from Jack – they've got great chemistry, but she knows they're only friends. Jack's the one she loves, and she knows Tyler loves Piper.

“I think that they're both distracting themselves from the people they really want to be with,” continues Olympia. “Paige is enjoying having someone want her, and not being rejected. It's easy and it's fun.”

It's certainly not fun for Jack this week, after he witnesses Paige and Tyler playing tonsil tennis right in front of him. He's so upset by what he sees that he goes on a drinking binge, and wakes up the next morning beside Lassiters lake, with no recollection of the night before!

“Paige knows that Jack is completely in love with her too,” explains Olympia. “And that's what makes it even more frustrating for her – she just doesn't understand how anyone can live a lifetime where they're not allowed to love someone. She's never been in that situation before.”

In order to try to understand a bit more about Jack's vocation, Paige heads off to church to listen to him preach. And after witnessing his moving speech, she ducks into the confessional booth to remind the priest of how she really feels about him.

“That's actually a really lovely scene,” grins Olympia. “She pours her heart out to him, and it's quite emotional. She lays all her cards on the table and tells Jack that she loves him – you can see on his face that he's hurting just as much as she is.”

Right now, with Jack showing no signs of leaving the priesthood, we can't possibly imagine a way that this love story can have a happy ending. However, Olympia

Muddying the waters: Paige has been flirting with Tyler as a distraction is rooting for the pair to find a way to make it work – and she's not the only one...

“Everyone really wants them to be together!” she reckons. “That said, the viewers are hoping the storyline doesn't drag out for too long, either. I guess we'll just have to wait and see what happens, but I think if they did end up together it would be a challenge for both of them. Paige is not religious at all, and she'd have to change her ways. They do love each other, though.”

As well as fighting her feelings for Jack, Paige has also been fighting for real as she's taken up boxing recently. And Olympia tells us that the story was prompted by her real-life love of the sport.

“When the storyline first came up I was like, ‘How do the writers know that I can box?’” she says. “Then I found out they stalk our Instagram and Facebook pages to get inspiration! But it's been so much fun to play out, and there's a scene coming up where we go to a full-scale boxing ring!”

It's clear there are big things ahead for Paige – and Olympia has some exciting plans in the pipeline herself! She's visiting the UK in the autumn, and will attend the Inside Soap Awards for the first time in October.

“I'm so excited about that!” gushes the actress, who's nominated in the Best Daytime Star category. “I'm getting my dress made as we speak – it's going to be so pretty. I can't wait to meet everyone. And if Neighbours picks up some awards on the night, that would be the icing on the cake!”

SARAH ELLIS

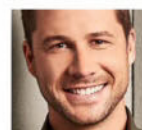

Gospel truth: Paige tells Jack how she really feels in the confessional booth

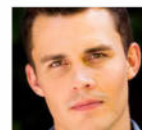

Queen FOR A DAY!

Olympia knows how Paige would rule Erinsborough...

"Choosing a king would be hard, because Paige loves so many people. Right now it would have to be Jack, but I loved her with Mark – and I also think that Tyler would be a fun king. She'd have all of them! They could fan her down and feed her grapes."

"The first law she would pass is that Jack could continue to love God, but still love her at the same time, too! He doesn't have to be a priest – he could just worship God in some other way."

"Alan Fletcher [aka Karl] would be my court jester. He's the funniest guy in the world, and it's almost impossible to shoot a scene with him because he's constantly laughing. He always has to get a tissue to wipe away his tears, he laughs so much!"

"I'd throw Paul Robinson in the stocks, because he's mean to Paige. In fact, he's really mean to everyone! I think my loyal subjects would be totally behind me on that decision."

"Paige's national anthem would be Run The World (Girls) by Beyoncé – as Paige is confident, strong, and gets what she wants!"

“Whenever I see Pauline and Arthur, I think, ‘That’s my mum and dad!’”

It’s not easy taking over the role of a popular soap character, but James Bye’s portrayal of Martin has won over the nation – and the nod for our coveted Best Actor Award! It’s also Martin’s devotion to wife Stacey that has contributed to them becoming one of Walford’s best-loved couples, hence why the pair are up for Best Partnership...

Are you relieved that your take on Martin has been a hit with viewers?

I’ve had a lot of people say that to me, and I think it’s just a testament to the writers. They’ve linked me with iconic characters such as Sonia and Stacey, and hopefully that’s helped the audience buy into the new face of one of the first characters born on the show.

A lot of viewers would argue that you have sexed up Martin! How do you deal with that sort of attention?

I don’t know about that, because James Alexandrou [who previously played Martin] is a good-looking boy! It’s flattering when people say that, but I don’t get it. I’m open about my private life in that I’m married with kids, and I think people respect that.

After the dramatic year Martin has endured, you must be delighted with your nominations...

It’s lovely. To be put in the Best Actor category with the likes of Danny [Dyer, aka Mick] and Steve McFadden [who plays Phil] – especially Steve, who has had an unbelievable year – is an honour. It’s just a privilege to have the opportunity.

What is it about your relationship with Lacey Turner (Stacey) that helps create the on-screen chemistry you both share?

We’re like brother and sister, to be honest with you! We get in each other’s faces quite a lot, but in a friendly way. People say that we’re like a real married couple!

Tell us what it was like filming the scenes between Martin and Stacey on the roof of the Queen Vic?

They were amazing scenes to shoot! The roof was decked out really safely, so they were never going to let us fall over the edge – particularly Lacey, aka ‘the money’, they would definitely not want to lose her! It was great to be up there, especially at night. The Square looked so beautiful.

Martin found out that he wasn’t baby Arthur’s father, and helped Stacey through her postpartum psychosis. Which of those stories was more challenging to film?

I think Martin finding out that Arthur wasn’t his son, and him coming to terms with it, was harder. When we filmed the scenes where Stacey was sectioned, it was all Lacey’s performance, and I didn’t really need to act because she was so good. EastEnders is very lucky to have her.

Do you have funny moments on set when you’re not busy filming some of those big, dramatic scenes?

Oh yes, daily! We had a great storyline where Martin and Stacey were messing about with stolen toilets before their wedding, so that became an on-going joke between us all.

If there was an opportunity to have our pictures taken while sat on a loo, we took it!

If you could present a funny award to any fellow cast member, who would get it?

I would have to honour Scott Maslen, who plays Jack, for being the craziest human being I have ever met in my life! He’s just 100-miles-an-hour all the time. It’s like being around a cockney Jim Carrey!

We hear you’re good mates with Greg Finnegan, who plays James Nightingale in Hollyoaks. How do you know one another?

We know each other through mutual friends. I spoke to [Hollyoaks’ executive producer] Bryan Kirkwood at this year’s National Television Awards and said, “You’ve got a good one there”. Greg is wonderfully talented, and I think he’ll be massive for Hollyoaks.

How do you find being a dad both on and off screen?

It’s great! Working with my on-screen daughter Jasmine Armfield [who plays Bex] is like a view of things to come.

I have two boys myself in real life, and baby Arthur is only a few months older than my youngest. His dad is quite happy to hand him over to me, and Lacey is really good with him as well. It's like free babysitting for his parents!

Would you liked to have met the original actors who played the Fowler family?

Of course! Whenever I see clips of Pauline and Arthur, I just think to myself, 'That's my mum and dad'!

Why do you think EastEnders should win Best Soap?

Well, just look at the year we've had. The storylines have been amazing, and there's been such a variety of stuff going on.

Sneak preview!

"All I can tell you is that Martin is putting down some roots in the Square, and I've filmed scenes with some characters that I haven't worked with at all before," shares James. "As for Martin and Stacey, they're in a good place right now, and the trust between them is solid. It's actually quite nice to play a happily married couple!"

Tameka EMPSON

KIM FOX-HUBBARD

Walford's Kim has earned herself a reputation as the queen of comedy, but over the past year we've also seen her embrace motherhood, and fight hard to hold on to her husband, Vincent. Despite that, bubbly actress Tameka has again been nominated for Funniest Female, and is hoping to retain her crown as the reigning champ...

You look the picture of Hollywood glamour in this dress, Tameka!

The gold works, I love it! I do enjoy Inside Soap photo shoots, I have to say. I love the glitz and the glam, and the photographer always gives me a good workout. Each year I tell myself I'm going to be more supple!

If you're victorious this year, it'll be the fifth time that you've scooped the comedy prize...

I know, and I really am so honoured to be nominated again. It would be nice to add another one to the collection – especially as it's from Inside Soap!

What have you enjoyed most about Kim's year?

I love that Kim's daughter, Pearl, is her mini-me, and that they wear matching outfits. And art imitates life because I actually do a little bit of that with my own daughter – but not quite to the same extent as Kim!

Have you had any funny moments on set when filming Kim's scenes?

Yes, when Kim was on the bouncy castle during Pearl's birthday party – and Claudette pierced it! Someone from the crew bounced up and down on it a few times before I did, and she warned me that when they cut the air it would deflate quickly, and I would have to be careful about how I landed. But when they shut off the air, I was up in the air, so I came down on to the ground in the Albert Square gardens. I lived to tell the tale, though, and the comedy was there for the nation!

Kim hasn't had it easy with Claudette, has she?

Oh yes, the mother-in-law! Ellen Thomas [aka Claudette] and I have a lot of banter off screen, but when we get into Kim and Claudette mode, it's handbags and heels at dawn!

And how about Kim and her husband Vincent? They've weathered a few storms...

The ordeal with Donna wanting to have Vincent's baby was so hard for Kim to process. It was her husband potentially having another child with his foster-sister, and for Kim that was too close to home. She was never going to be totally okay with it, but she also had to support her man. I do enjoy comedy, but I love the drama, too!

How do you think Kim will react if she finds out that Denise slept with Phil?

I think she'd be shocked! The nation would see Kim speechless for the first time since she's been in the show. I don't think she'd believe it!

Sneak preview!

"Kim has a rocky road ahead of her with a story coming up in the autumn," reveals Tameka. "It's going to be hard to play, as in real life I'm very good at the thing Kim is going to be doing – but Kim is not! I'm hoping the nation will be behind her new journey, because while it will be emotional for her, the audience might find it funny..."

"Kim would be speechless if she found out about Denise and Phil!"

Davood GHADAMI

KUSH KAZEMI

After a year of loss and heartbreak for poor Kush, we're hoping foxy Denise will finally bring him happiness – because she's certainly taken with the Walford fitness guru! And apparently so are the viewers, as actor Davood has been nominated in this year's Sexiest Male category...

Kush has had a roller-coaster year, but what's been your highlight?

I never expected to be part of something as important as Shabnam's stillbirth, and was honoured to be working with Rakhee [Thakrar, aka Shabnam Kazemi], who is one of the best actresses I've ever met. The story affected so many people, and we wanted to show truth. I think we achieved that.

And then we found out that Arthur was Kush's! Were you worried this could shatter Kush and Martin's bromance?

I was, and James [Bye, who plays Martin] and I have that bromance in real life! A selfish part of me was gutted that we may work together less, but we ended up filming in a different way, with our punch-ups! I think there's a redeemable friendship there now.

It hasn't been all doom and gloom this year, though – you had a great stag do!

That was so much fun. All the strange drunken nudity blurred together as if it were a real stag do! It ended with me being tied to the railings in my pants, and I still wonder how it got to that point. It's almost as if Kush enjoys it...

The viewers appear to have enjoyed it, too, as you're in the running for Sexiest Male!

I don't think I'm everybody's cup of tea, so this isn't really something I was rooting for. And I have zero expectations knowing that I'm up against the likes of Danny [Dyer, aka Mick] – he's even sexier in real life! He would get my vote.

Who among the cast are you hoping to work with more in future?

I've always wanted to work with Jake [Wood, who plays Max Branning], but lost that opportunity when he took time off. He's back soon, so fingers crossed! I also want to explore as much of the Kazemi family as possible – rooting them in Walford and creating their own history.

What do you make of the recent flirting between Kush and Denise?

I think that as a pair, they make sense. After everything Kush has been through, a woman like Denise is exactly what he needs. Denise is very alluring and young at heart, so she could mother him, but I reckon they'd have a lot of fun together, too!

Sneak preview!

“There's a lot more to come out of Kush and Denise's relationship,” teases Davood. “And in typical Walford fashion, there are some huge ups and downs along the way. I reckon they're a lot more compatible than they may seem at first glance – although I really can't imagine that Carmel would be able to see it that way!”

Tilly KEEPER

LOUISE MITCHELL

Feisty, mischievous, and cheeky, Louise has certainly lived up to the Mitchell family name since moving to Albert Square to live with dad Phil. In the short time she's been at EastEnders, 18-year-old actress Tilly has shared the screen with a host of Walford greats, and is hoping to join their ranks after her nomination for Best Newcomer...

Congratulations, Tilly! Where were you when you were told the good news?

I found out at work when I was with Harry [Reid, aka Ben], and I remember feeling so excited! I share the same email address with my mum, so she'd already seen the message about the nomination – and we texted one another at the same time!

How would you sum up your Walford experience so far?

EastEnders has changed my life completely for the better. To grasp such a meaty and fun character who people like to watch has been great for me. To be nominated for Best Newcomer is an honour, and to be part of one of the show's most iconic families is amazing. I just feel blessed to be here every day.

How has the audience reacted to Louise?

I think the viewers find her quite funny – they like her sassiness! A lot of young girls tell me they love Louise and want to be exactly like her, but I say to them, “No, don’t be like Louise – be nice”!

We can tell you’re a lot nicer than she is!

Well I like to say that I’m very different from Louise, but I do love playing her bitchy side! It’d be boring if she was lovely all the time.

Was it daunting working with lots of iconic characters so soon after joining?

I didn’t know the part was for Louise Mitchell until two days before I stepped on to the set, as it was top secret that she was coming back. I didn’t really have time to be fazed by it, and then on my second day I was in a room with the likes of Steve McFadden [who plays Phil], Adam [Woodyatt, aka Ian], Letitia Dean [Sharon], and Gillian Telford [who plays Kathy]. Everyone is so normal, though, so I settled in quickly.

What is it like having Steve as your TV dad?

He is a legend, and it is an honour to work with him. Playing his daughter is just a blessing to me, so I do gush about it! It feels very much like a family unit when we’re on set, and Steve is very protective of us and really wants to help us all out.

Who in the cast were you most in awe of when you first met them?

Sam Womack, who plays Ronnie. Growing up

I loved watching Ronnie and Jack, and always used to root for them. When Louise started appearing regularly on the show, someone tweeted me saying, “Mini-Ronnie is back” – and that really pleased me!

You were one of the few characters who shared a scene with Barbara Windsor [who played Peggy Mitchell] before she left the show. What was that like?

I felt so lucky. I was reading through the scripts hoping that I was going to work with her, and Harry and I were counting how many scenes we each had with her!

What did you love most about Peggy’s exit?

The scene where she was on the boat with Phil, and Moon River was playing – that was beautiful. And Peggy’s exit line, “Straight back, head high like a queen”, just summed up the character completely.

We know from those episodes that Louise doesn’t like peas. But do you eat your greens?

It’s funny because that has become a bit of a thing! I was in the canteen eating peas as part of my lunch recently, and one of the writers said, “I thought you didn’t eat peas?”! It was such a sweet moment between Louise and Peggy on screen, so I like the fact everyone brings it up now.

Who else in the EastEnders cast do you think has really stood out this year?

I thought Jamie Borthwick [who plays Jay] did such an amazing job with the Jay and Linzi plot. I couldn’t help but cry when Jay received his sentence from the judge!

What have you enjoyed watching in the other soaps over the past year?

Kylie’s death in Coronation Street was fantastic. I was on holiday when she was killed off. We were having dinner, and I was trying to live stream the episode on my phone. I didn’t want her to die!

Sneak preview!

“Paul’s death is going to continue to take its toll on Ben,” explains Tilly. “And although Louise doesn’t like to show it, she really does care for her brother. With that in mind, she’s going to really stick by the family, while also attempting to make things a bit lighter and easier for them. We will see a bit more of Louise’s caring side, but she’s never going to be a saint...”

“I’m very different from Louise – but I love playing her bitchy side!”

Aaron SIDWELL

STEVEN BEALE

It was one of the biggest shock soap comebacks of the year when Ian's troubled stepson, Steven, returned to Walford. The bad boy had seemingly turned over a new leaf as his younger brother Bobby was punished for killing sister Lucy – but is the new and improved Steven all he seems? Actor Aaron reckons we're just going to have to keep guessing...

Was it tricky keeping Steven's return a secret?

I walked around with it for three months without being able to say anything! Then Jonny Labey [who played Paul Coker] put up an Instagram video and the secret was out – but I think there were a lot of viewers who aren't on social media who were surprised when Steven appeared on screen.

How did it feel to be back after eight years away?

Weird! Adam Woodyatt and Laurie Brett, who play Ian and Jane, were still there, but all the Beale kids had changed and moved on. The minute I stepped foot on the Square again, though, I was straight back into it.

Who are your best mates among the cast now?

I spend most of my time with Jacqueline [Jossa, who plays Lauren] as she lives up the road from me. And the thing I love about Lacey [Turner, aka Stacey] is that we have nine years of history. She's the only person my age in the show now who knew me before I was a dad and back in the day when we were going out and getting drunk together! I love Lacey to bits.

Were you following the 'Who Killed Lucy?' plot prior to your return?

I watched the EastEnders Live Week and thought it was a great story with a wonderful twist. When Bobby was first revealed as the killer, some people were like, 'C'mon, really?', but as it went on, you really believed that this kid had made a huge mistake. I only spent a brief time with Eliot [Carrington, aka Bobby], but he did a great job and his feet were firmly on the ground.

Steven is dating Lauren at the moment – but what about that electric first meeting between him and Johnny Carter?

That one scene sparked such a reaction on social media! I genuinely think that it was put in to throw people off the scent about Steven and Lauren being an item, but hey, the audience liked it! I do think that Steven genuinely loves Lauren, which is kind of exciting.

Sounds intriguing! What would be your dream storyline for Steven then?

I'd like to see Ben Hardy reprise the role of Peter, and to see a showdown between him and Steven for Lauren! I think Ben is passionate about the show, and that he would probably be interested in coming back if the timing and story were right. Peter is always going to be a fixture in the story, considering that he and Lauren have a child together that Steven is raising.

Sneak preview!

"Steven returned to Walford to help the Beales, but also because he's running from something," hints Aaron. "We're always going to wonder whether he's the good son or bad son – and that brings Peter into play. Who should Lauren be with? Who should be home with Ian? It's an interesting question."

"I'd like to see Steven and Peter fight for Lauren!"

Shona McGARTY

WHITNEY DEAN

It's been another tough year for Whitney, but in spite of all the hurdles in the way of her and Lee, their relationship has blossomed and Whitney is still set to be the new Mrs Carter! With a wedding to plan, and a baby on the way as well, things aren't going to get any easier for the young couple – though Sexiest Female nominee Shona can't wait for Whitney to have a family of her own...

Hi, Shona! How do you feel about Whitney becoming a yummy mummy?

Really excited! I think she'll be a great mum. All she's ever wanted is somebody to mother – and I think she'll have fun dressing the baby up, too. I can see Whitney making the poor thing wear tiaras and push it around in a great big diamanté pram covered in bling!

Would you like the chance to work with a baby on set?

Yeah, I love babies – the one who plays Lauren's son, Louis, is so cute! I actually had a funny moment on screen with him recently, where I was trying to say my lines while he was putting his hands through my earrings. As long as my hoops aren't pulled out, it's fine!

Have you had any other amusing moments recently?

It's always funny working with the Carters. My favourite scene recently was the one where Whitney tells Lee that she's pregnant, and Linda and Mick run in for a selfie! We looked back over the pictures and they're hilarious, but I haven't got a copy myself yet.

Have any of the stars of the other soaps caught your eye this year?

There's a girl in Coronation Street who plays Gemma [Dolly-Rose Campbell] who I think is brilliant! She's definitely my favourite Corrie character because she always makes me laugh and she's very believable. My mum and dad love her, too – we watch all the soaps together.

Which of your cast mates deserves an award?

Definitely Kellie Bright [Linda] for Best Hidden Bump!

What do fans say when they see you out and about?

People shout "Tiffany!", even though she's been gone for ages. And a lot of people ask me what it was like kissing Danny Dyer [aka Mick]...

Ooh! And what was it like kissing Danny Dyer?

To be honest, I was more excited about the storyline and why Whitney was doing that rather than kissing Danny – it's just the job. He's lovely and so much fun to work with, but I've kissed so many people since I've been on the show that Danny's just another number!

Sneak preview!

"Whitney is going to be extremely busy planning her wedding to Lee," reveals Shona. "But with those two, you know that it's never going to be smooth sailing – and there are a lot of dramas coming up for Whitney and the rest of the Carters. We're talking turmoil and surprise, and I think the audience will be delighted."

"Whit will be pushing her baby around in a big bling diamanté pram!"

ALPHABETICAL | ITV Weekdays

Former Countdown host Jeff Stelling tells us what lured him back to quizzing...

To the letter

Five years after stepping down as the host of Channel 4's Countdown, Jeff Stelling is back in the quizzing world. As the host of new game show Alphabetical, he's surrounded by letters again – with each round themed around the letters of the alphabet. Inside TV spoke to Jeff to find out what had tempted him to return to quizzing...

"I did Countdown for three years," says the presenter, who's best known as host of Sky Sports' Soccer Saturday. "But it was becoming impossible to fit everything in, particularly because I was travelling Europe doing football, even though Sky gave me as much time as they could. So I was aware that if I stepped back into anything else, it would have to be right. There have been a few offers over the years, but then Alphabetical came up, and I knew pretty quickly this was the one I'd be going for."

In each episode, a returning champion takes on three contenders over a series of different rounds. The questions are all general knowledge, but the rounds are themed around the alphabet in some way.

"The questions are not University
Challenge – anybody
at home can answer"

"You're given a letter in the first round, and all of the answers start with that letter," explains Jeff. "Then in the next round, you're given the last letter, so all of the answers end in Y, for example. There's a potentially big prize at the end of it, but you have to think quickly – a mistake could let the jackpot slip through your fingers!"

The pace of Alphabetical is far quicker than the sedate atmosphere of Countdown, but Jeff reckons his other job as a sports presenter has prepared him well.

"There's a lot of pace in Soccer Saturday, and I think that helps," he shares. "When we get to the final round, the contestants are up against the clock, and I want to make sure I get the questions out as clearly and concisely as possible. If they have some momentum and they've got six, seven, eight questions right, the last thing they want is for me to be stumbling and mumbling!

Dear Jeff letter: Who's up for some word play?

"The show has attracted a real cross-section of people," continues Jeff. "There were people who'd never done a quiz show before who were just there for the fun of it, and one or two more serious ones who were thinking, 'Hmm, this could be a nice payday!' The questions are not University Challenge, they're the sort of thing anybody at home can answer – and we hope the people in the studio can answer them too."

And how does Jeff think he'd have fared? "Okay if it was sport or geography," he muses. "You need the luck of the draw!"

Walton Goggins and Danny McBride weigh in on the faculty feud...

VICE PRINCIPALS | Sky Atlantic Tuesday

After being passed over for the top job at North Jackson High, vice principals Lee Russell and Neal Gamby have spent the past few weeks putting their differences aside in pursuit of a common goal: getting rid of Dr Belinda Brown, the woman who got the job they both wanted.

This week, the pair realise that a major football game against the school's arch-rivals gives them another chance to try to bring her down – but how far are they willing to go?

"They just set each other off!" explains Walton Goggins, who plays Russell. "I don't think either one of these guys is capable of doing something like this alone, but it's as though they found themselves in a mixed drink that happened to explode."

"The idea is that these guys deal with discipline and bad kids, but they both turn into stupid teenagers," adds co-creator Danny McBride, who plays Gamby. "The irony is they are in charge of making sure people don't act like that."

Seeing two authority figures seemingly losing control over not getting what they want has been a ripe source of comedy, but Danny reveals that they're making some serious points with these characters too.

"I think Gamby subscribed to an idea of masculinity when he was a boy," he shares. "And he's followed the rules of what he thinks it takes to be a man – although none of those have panned out!"

CELEBRITY BIG BROTHER Channel 5 10.30pm

Last night another celebrity (or possibly more than one, Big Brother does like to change its plans at short notice) left the house after the public vote.

Mind you, the way things have been going so far this series – with Marnie flashing Saira and Aubrey spitting in Bear's food, for example – we're hoping the housemates can control themselves so they'll be exiting in the expected fashion, and not being booted through the back door for bad behaviour. Come on, celebs: we expect a certain level of conflict, but there's no need to be wilfully disgusting!

Anyway, now we've got that off our chests, tonight's update will give us a rundown of the events leading up to yesterday's eviction, as well as revealing how the surviving housemates reacted to the public's decision.

EDINBURGH NIGHTS BBC2 9.30pm

In the return of the series that brings us the highlights from Edinburgh's arts festivals, Kirsty Wark will be chatting to Richard Wilson about bringing back Victor Meldrew in a one-man show – as well as his One Foot In The Grave cast mate Angus Deayton, who's appearing in a stage version of the cult comedy Radio Active. And author Ian Rankin joins Kirsty for a tour of The Scottish Endarkenment exhibition.

ROBOT WARS

BBC2 8pm

To think that before this revival we had forgotten the simple pleasures of watching a load of remote-controlled machines knocking the bolts out of each other – it's doing wonders for our stress management, we don't mind telling you!

Another batch of teams enters the arena tonight, and we have a lot of superlatives in this episode: we have the largest spinning disc in this year's competition, as well as the most expensive robot and one of the youngest drivers – but perhaps the most exciting of all is (deep breath) the most powerful crusher in Robot Wars history.

Of course, it's all well and good having the stats in your favour on paper, but as we've found out in previous weeks, sometimes it's the underdog who wins out in the arena...

Mine all mine

FLYING TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH

Channel 4 7pm

In the final episode of the series, Arthur Williams is airborne again and heading to Peru, where he's been granted permission to enter a gold mine in the Andes. But the landing he needs to make there is incredibly dangerous. In less hair-raising news, he'll also be taking a seaplane up the Amazon to meet a civilisation which has had little contact with the outside world.

Channel 4 9pm

The Big Fat Quiz Of The Year has become an annual tradition, but back in January Channel 4 decided to have a Big Fat Quiz Of Everything and let celebrities loose not just on the past 12 months but on... well, everything. It's now back for a three-part series, with Jimmy Carr testing more celebrities on everything they can remember about the previous 100,000 years or so.

Tonight's contestants are Jonathan Ross, Mel Giedroyc, Kristen Schaal, David Mitchell, Bob Mortimer and Claudia Winkleman, and special guests include First Dates' maître d' Fred Sirieix and Strictly Come Dancing's professionals Kevin and Karen Clifton. We'll also see the return of regular contributors Jon Snow, Joey Essex and Mitchell Brook Primary School.

KATE HUMBLE: MY SHEEPDOG AND ME

BBC2 9pm

When Kate Humble bought a farm in Monmouth, she needed a working dog to help out – and that's how she ended up with Teg, a Welsh Sheepdog. As Teg comes from a rare breed, Kate would like her to have puppies, but Teg has become more of a pet lately, so Kate sets out to re-establish the canine's herding credentials by training her in the traditional Welsh way.

AN HOUR TO SAVE YOUR LIFE BBC2 9pm

This is one of the hardest hours of TV to watch each week. It's genuinely compelling to see what happens when the emergency services are called to an accident, but that also means seeing people at their most vulnerable, sometimes even hovering between life and death. Still, if you can keep your emotions in check, this is a fantastic, vital bit of factual telly, making it clear just how much we should cherish our frontline doctors and paramedics.

In tonight's episode, medics in Gloucester are called out to an industrial accident where a man was crushed by a forklift truck – he can't move from the waist down, and they're concerned about spinal injuries. Meanwhile in London, a road accident has left a 24-year-old woman with an open skull fracture.

BBC2 9pm

Ever wondered what's going on above our heads? No, not in the attic, in the sky. This new five-part series shares some unexpected stories from people who spend their lives in the air, as well as those on the ground who make it all possible.

Tonight's opening episode is all about how the skies above Britain are kept safe. One aspect of that comes from the RAF, where we follow the pilots who are training to fly supersonic Typhoon jets. It's one of the elite jobs in the RAF, and the trainees are tested on their ability to handle all manner of scenarios, including ejecting over water.

We'll also see how air traffic controllers deal with an unidentified aircraft in Gatwick's flight path, and discover what happens when airports are encumbered by thick fog.

School's out

MAN DOWN

Channel 4 10pm

Dan's final assembly isn't quite the lovefest he'd hoped for: nobody can come up with any heartfelt words to say, so Dan has to fill in the gaps himself. There's also some worrying news about his leaving party when he discovers that the venue has changed, and there's the fact that he hasn't broken it to Emma that he's coming yet. Look out for a scene-stealing cameo from Star Wars' Mark Hamill, too!

THE 80s WITH DOMINIC SANDBROOK
BBC2 9.00pm

In the final part of Dominic's look back at a decade that brought about big change for Britain, the 80s are coming to an end. The late 80s gave us technological advancements such as the very first mobile phone network and the privatisation of national companies including British Telecom. But while Margaret Thatcher saw the privatisation movement as a means for ordinary British citizens to hold big business to account by becoming shareholders, things didn't quite work out like that.

Speaking of Mrs Thatcher, the end of the 80s saw the prime minister facing severe political turbulence as people took to the streets to riot against the poll tax. And as rave culture swept Britain, the media reaction turned into a storm of moral panic.

HIGHLANDS: SCOTLAND'S WILD HEART BBC2 9pm

After covering a season per episode over the past two weeks, we pick up the pace a bit for tonight's instalment, to address autumn and winter in the space of an hour. It's a tough time for the animals of the Highlands as the days get shorter and the weather turns harsher, and on the mountains in particular, the animals need to be savvy to survive as heavy snow falls. Reindeer are better equipped to handle these conditions than just about any other creature, but they still need to make the most of the short breeding period they have during the milder weather. Meanwhile in the Cairngorms, the red squirrels are hard at work gathering nuts to see them through the winter, but there's a bit of a turf war going on over the available bounty...

FRIDAY NIGHT DINNER Channel 4 10pm

It's been a while since we've seen Horrible Grandma – and as she didn't just pick up that nickname by accident, we can totally see why Jackie and Martin wouldn't have issued her an invitation. However, there are times when you just can't avoid family – funerals, for one example, so as the Goodmans gather to say farewell to Uncle Saul, Horrible Grandma makes her presence well and truly felt.

THE SEDUCTION OF CAIN!

Emmerdale's Charity very nearly got her man this week, after Cain had a bust-up with Moira – and went running straight to his ex for comfort! If only their sexy time hadn't been thwarted by Chas...

How brilliant was the scene where Cain and Charity got it on in the back room of the Woolpack? I love that Charity has been trying to get her claws into Cain for weeks – then he comes round, insults her, and she pounces on him! Amazing.
Vicky, via email

The Emmerdale writers must have had so much fun with those scenes between Charity, Cain and Chas. I was cracking up at the insults they were all hurling at each other!
Yasmin, Liverpool

Good on Chas for breaking up Charity and Cain before their liaison could go too far. She was like their mum, the way she told them both off! But she was spot on – Cain would likely have regretted bedding Charity.

Kevin, Worcester

Charity has been such fun to watch ever since she got out of prison. She's dynamite behind the bar of the Woolie, and I just love how naughty she is. I actually hope she and Cain do get together!
Monica, via email

But some of you strongly disagree...

Cain and Moira have had their ups and downs, but they really do work as a couple. Cain and Charity are a lethal combination, but we've been there and done that for enough years. So please let Cain go back to Moira and find Charity a new bad boy to toy with!

Debbi, Derby
I agree – leave Cain with Moira, and put Charity with Ross!

Lee and Whitney couldn't believe that Mia Farrow was their local GP

CAN'T STAND THE CHEAT

I really can't believe that Whitney has given cheating Lee another chance in EastEnders. He needs to man up and take responsibility for his actions! He can't even make a decision without being prompted by his mum and dad. Whit should forget about Lee and focus on her unborn baby.

Madge, via email
She has to stick with Lee – I want to see their wedding!

STONE THE CROWS!

No! Please tell me that Home and Away aren't planning to kill off Alf! He's a proper soap legend, and there's been way too much doom and gloom in the Bay recently – I couldn't bear it if he died. It just wouldn't be the same without Alf calling everyone a "flamin' galah"!

Holly, London
Don't worry, Holly – Alf will live to fish another day!

RANT! RAVE! We love to hear your opinions. Here's how to get in touch...

Poor little Max had to say a final goodbye to his mum

FAREWELL, KYLIE

Just when my tears from Kylie's death had finally dried, Corrie goes and drops her funeral on me! I think it's possibly one of the saddest soap funerals I've ever seen, and I really couldn't hold back the tears when Max got up and read the eulogy for his mum. I'm not sure if the writers were trying to leave me completely traumatised, but they certainly succeeded!

Rebecca, via email

I think it's going to be a long while yet before the Platts move on from the tragedy.

PAIGE RAGE

Neighbours' Paige is such a selfish cow! I know she's upset that she can't be with Jack, but sleeping with Tyler when she knows her sister Piper is still in love with him is unforgivable. I'm glad she's not my sister!

JERONIMO!

I'm sure I recognised the lady in Casualty who ran Connie and Grace off the road. Where have I seen her before?

Becky, via email

The actress is Tonicha Lawrence – but you might know her better as Tonicha Jeronimo. She played Emmerdale's Linda Fowler – wife of Biff – from 1994 to 1997. Ironically, Linda was killed in a car crash, so let's hope Connie's accident has a happier ending!

Tonicha's characters are cursed with cars!

Grace didn't get the 'white attire only' memo

THE LACE IS ON

I really loved Kim's wedding dress in Hollyoaks – not the one that got stolen, but the one she got to replace it. Can you tell me where it's from please?

Jessica, via email

Kim's lace dress is from Missguided, and costs £120. Search 'Bridal Lace Open Back Maxi Dress White' on www.missguided.co.uk

DON'T GIVE ADAM

I was pleased to see in Inside Soap that Ken's son Daniel Osbourne is coming back to Corrie – but can you remind me who Adam Barlow is?

Maz, London

Adam is Ken's grandson – he was the secret son of Ken's daughter Susan and his arch-nemesis Mike Baldwin! Adam was born off screen in 1988, after Susan and Mike had got divorced – but neither Mike nor Ken even knew that the lad existed until 2001.

Adam thought his head shot was for a new boy band me, I'd be right in there! I just don't understand why she would turn him down. And now that Lisa Loveday has got her claws into him, Cleo stands no chance of getting together with lovely Nathan!

Elizabeth, Bradford

Something tells me that Lisa and Nathan won't be a 'thing' for much longer...

GIFT OF THE GAB

Emmerdale's Gabby has turned out to be such a spoilt

Gabby defined the expression 'smash and grab'

"The ball's in your Courtney now, love" brat! The way she broke into and trashed Victoria's cottage, then accused her father Ashley of assaulting her to divert police attention from her crime, was disgusting. What a little monster.

David, Walsall

Gabby's behaviour is the last thing poor Ashley needs.

COURTNEY LOVE!

It was great to see Grant's daughter, Courtney, rock up in Albert Square as part of his return to EastEnders. I think she bears a rather sweet resemblance to her late mum Tiffany – but of course, that Mitchell blood is coursing through her veins, too. I'd love to see Courtney give her feisty cousin Louise a run for her money – and become Ben and Jay's new partner in crime!

Mary, via email

I'd say the chances of her creating new faultlines in the clan are pretty high...

SOAP shorts...

"Does anyone else think that Home and Away's Justin looks like the love child of Brax and Andy?" wonders Liz from Brighton... "What a cliffhanger to end this series of Casualty – I can't believe we've got over a month to wait now!" gasps Lesley from Walsall... "I'm so glad that Corrie's Todd finally stood up to Phelan!" cheers Tait from London. "If only he'd leave the Platts alone..." (He should frame Phelan for Callum's murder!)

ARIES 21 MARCH – 20 APRIL

You'll be sent off on some kind of mission this week – and it will feel like a big deal, regardless of its importance or otherwise. Attack it with your usual gusto and all will turn out well.

TAURUS 21 APRIL – 21 MAY

You're in for some rather grey days during the week ahead, but they will be leavened by the company of good friends. Their support will bring you out of yourself and back to normal in no time.

GEMINI 22 MAY – 21 JUNE

This is not a week to fly solo – you'll work well in a group, and the input and commitment of others will be a valuable tool as you try to complete tasks on the job or at home. Many hands make light work!

CANCER 22 JUNE – 23 JULY

Disappointment is the name of the game early this week, as something you've been looking forward to doesn't quite come off. But don't get dejected – the rest of the week will be brighter in turn.

LEO 24 JULY – 23 AUGUST

You've been spending a fair bit of time indoors this summer – and let's face it, there hasn't been much reason not to! But get out there in the sun on any warmer days, because open spaces are just what you need.

VIRGO 24 AUG – 23 SEPT

This feels like one of the weightier weeks of the summer, as things come to a head for you. You've been toiling for a while to achieve something, and the accomplishment will make the hard work worthwhile.

LIBRA 24 SEPT – 23 OCT

You're back, and it's about time! You may have taken a few weeks out of the social whirl to gather your thoughts and put your finances in order, but an invitation will soon have you back out there.

SCORPIO 24 OCT – 22 NOV

You're an adventurer at heart, and someone may make you an offer or suggest something that stokes the fire within you. This week could prove to be the highlight of the summer if you really go for it!

SAGITTARIUS 23 NOV – 21 DEC

You'll be in the wars in some way this week – possibly thanks to an unthinking family member dropping you in it! Approach the battle with your customary logic and you'll form a strategy to prevail.

CAPRICORN 22 DEC – 20 JAN

Someone is acting like a dictator in your life, and it's time for it to stop! You're usually quite go-along-to-get-along, but you've had enough – and it's time that this two-bit tyrant was taken down a peg!

AQUARIUS 21 JAN – 19 FEB

You'll be flying high this week, as plans work out and success comes easily to you. Enjoy the buzz while it lasts, and use what you have learned to set up similar victories in the future. Don't let it go to waste!

PISCES 20 FEB – 20 MAR

You may have a visitor or encounter that inspires you this week. It's always nice to be reminded of the generosity of human nature – and now it's time to play your part and pay that kindness forward.

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY - AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

"You don't get your meat where you get your potatoes," Babe warned Abi over her bunk-up with Lee. With that lack of basic food knowledge, Abi's scores on the doors must be rock bottom...

Eva was furious to learn that Aidan has slept with 89 women. To be fair, Eva, a lot of women do throw themselves at you after you win The X Factor.

What a difference a year makes. Twelve months ago, Pete and Ross were caving each other's heads in - and now they're frolicking like two gay* sailors out on shore leave.

*as in happy

Even in heaven, poor Kylie Platt is never going to shake off that damning ex-junkie tag.

BULLSEYE!

"You had a baby, Shirley... or was it two?" rambled confused Sylvie - sounding the Kat Moon Baby Twist Siren and building our hopes for twin Mick Carters. If only!

It made a refreshing change to see Sean in a real plot that didn't involve stitching and bitching. Our little hearts went out to him!

As sorry as we felt for poor Whitney, it was great to see her haul cheating Lee over the coals - with Shona McGarty showing off what a firecracker of an actress she is. If you ask us, though, Whit forgave Lee a little too quickly. We definitely would have made him sweat for a whole week, at least!

Go on, Corrie. Give the Emmerdale fans one little scene between Erica and Vinny, just for old times' sake!

Chas should write a testimonial for Charity's application for Publican of the Year. They'd love to know that their lead contender is a "tired old tart", "past her sell-by date" and a "knackered old rabbit".

One set of Walford ladies clearly drew the short straw for the EastEnders secondary storyline this week.

We're thoroughly enjoying Hollyoaks' new tradition of popping Grace in the Donovan salon doorway every morning to present that day's outfit.
